I don't MENTION NAMES BUT here are my EMAILS and what should I say about them, if you talk about my YouTube video of it because my videos are closed seeded because of copy infringement, if you talk about the website, it's because you use the phone, my videos (unfortunately) are not mp4 so they can not be shown on the phones I do not know what it is : please ... I do my best and I'm one person, I post level G all the time, and thank you :) Thanks for sending this twice? We're here to help you reach your Reading Plus goals! This site contains all the tips you need to get through Reading Plus as soon as possible. Below you can read about the best reading plus response sites (other than that). Usually, if you can't find answers to a story on one site, you can find it on another. We also have our own collection of answers, to which we regularly add. Best Reading Plus Reply sites for 2018 Here's my favorite reading plus replies sites reviewed: PlusKey PlusKey.net is by far the biggest site I've found so far for reading Plus answers. It works as a forum, so you can both submit the answers and see the answers of everyone else, there's also the ability to download a collection of all the answers directly to your computer. The main drawback of this site is that it can be misleading to get into. When I signed up I had to submit answers in form and didn't get the answer back within 6 days. After all, as soon as I got it, and it was surprisingly helpful, there's even answers as old as 4 years old when reading plus was new. They also have a 'hall' area where they share Reading Plus memes and other funny things. Although it's a little hard to get into once you get it makes reading plus a breeze. ReadingPlusAnswers SubReddit It was a cool subreddit that took a lot of steam in 2017. Its fast, fast, and everyone can join right away. The downside is that it's a public forum, and recently Reading Plus has been having Reddt take down some of the responses. My main concern with this forum is that it will be completely banned one day and all answers will go down with it. Usually I recommend trying to get into PlusKey if you can because it's private and I'm sure it can't be taken down easily. Official Reading Plus Answers This site was awesome last summer, but the creator stopped sending new answers. The cool thing about it was they posted responses in image format in a very organized style. The downside of all other forum sites is the format of responses varies depending on who posts that may be misleading to read. The quiz Most of you have probably heard of the quiz, but not everyone knows how useful it can be to search for reading plus answers. Every day dozens of new answers are added here. The main problem with the quiz is that the answers are very disorganized and it can be difficult to find the story you are looking for. One way to get around this is by using Google's next search operator: site:quizlet.com reading plus answers level m jumping frog It's a really handy trick that only shows results from the site quiz. Google is much better at finding and organizing results than even a quiz! Another drawback of the quiz is that the answers come and go because they may get banned for some reason. That's why it's best to try to get into a private forum like pluskey.net if you can. I know most of my readers are here to just finish the stories so you can go back to doing what you enjoy. Really though Reading Plus is a pretty cool program that will make you smarter. Its only going to make your brain bigger. That being said, I recommend using reading plus answers as a guide to over-checking yourself, no longer running the Spacebar hack, so you might as well do some reading. Children's game Reading Plus is hard to fool, have been cool hacks in the past, but most have been taken out. The best way to cheat is by using answers in the diagnosis of destination understanding when you first sign up for a plus reading. If you are doing well on this you can skip many levels and avoid having to spacebar through them. In the past it was a cool fool where you disable Wi-Fi while on view of the story. After disconnecting, you can click on the space bar to skip the story for a few seconds. Then connect the internet and enter the correct answers from the crib. Unfortunately, this has been fixed by reading plus in 2017 and no longer works. Keep experimenting though and let me know if you find a way to skip the story in a few seconds. One very risky hack log in as a teacher and changing your scores. It's very technical and requires you to know a bit of coding. It can also get you if you're caught, so we definitely don't encourage it. However, if you want to learn more (for educational education about what not to do), you should Google until you learn how to access computers remotely, it just involves using a flash drive on the teachers' computer while they are in the bathroom and then log into it from your computer. If you have any other questions, be sure to send me a message in the contacts section.
